Method

- 1 Ask the students to work in A- and B-groups. A-groups then look at stories 1 and 2; B-groups look at stories 3 and 4.
- 2 Give groups the infinitives in the box below. Check the students understand their meaning and then ask them to guess which verbs go with 'their' stories. There may be more than one possibility.

die sink hit watch slide help remain choose smoke eat tell feel decide become put win receive grow sell come ear murder send find take catch explode think have return
splash survive

- 3 Exchange your stories with someone in one of the other groups (A->B; B->A). The other person should ask you questions about your story to see how much you remember. You then ask the other student about his/her story.
As an alternative to 3, the teacher could write up question cues on the board so that the students can find out about each other's stories e.g. Why/Titanic/sink?

Key

- 1 Titanic
On 15 April 1912 more than 1500 people died in the icy waters of the North Atlantic when SS Titanic sank after it hit an iceberg. The survivors watched helplessly as the giant ship slid beneath the waves. Colonel John Jacob Astor helped his own new bride and many others into boats and then remained on the Titanic until the end. Some wives chose to die with their husbands rather than to be saved alone.

2 Ghandi

Mahatma Gandhi's parents were very religious but the young man secretly smoked, ate meat and told lies. However, he felt a lot of guilt and decided to change his behaviour for the rest of his life. Returning to India after working in South Africa, he became involved in non-violent political protest against the British, who put him in prison on many occasions. Indians eventually won their independence in 1947.

3 Scarface

In the 1920s gangsters received more press than the President of the United States. The most famous was 'Scarface' Al Capone who grew up in Brooklyn. Capone illegally sold alcohol, giving him an income of more than $20 million dollars a year. He came through the Chicago gang wars by killing his rivals. In the St Valentine's Day massacre some of Capone's gang wore police uniforms and murdered seven members of the 'Bugs' Moran gang. In 1931 the authorities finally sent Capone to prison for tax evasion when they found a false bank account containing $856,000.

4 Apollo 13

Apollo 13 took off for the moon on 11 April 1970. Unfortunately, 56 hours later some wires caught fire and an oxygen tank exploded. For a time the three astronauts – Jim Lovell, Fred Haise and Jack Swigert – thought they would not be able to return to earth. They had to move to the one part of Apollo that was safe, and returned to the main part only for the final stage of the journey back to earth. Apollo splashed down in the Pacific on April 17. All the astronauts survived.
